India Science Fest at IISER, Pune on Jan 11-12, 2020

Aspiring Minds, partnering with Harvard South Asia Inst, NASSCOM and Social Alpha (Tata Trust) is organizing India Science Fest at IISER, Pune during 11-12 Jan 2020 with the aim to create India's largest public science event and get excellent scientists engage with students, faculty and professionals.

The highlights of this Science Fest include:

- 30+ scientists will give talks, debate and demystify science and engineering with confirmed speakers from MIT, Yale, UCSD, IITs, NCBS, Tsinghua Univ, at the Fest.
- Exciting AI exhibits, robots, and scientific marvels
- Opportunity to present your science and engineering to the world
- Roundtables to discuss science and technology policy in which experts discuss how to make science in India world class.
- Workshop for school students to connect our young minds to global science and engineering
- Close interaction with the world's best minds facilitating specialist sessions and one-on-one meetings for deep discussions

The Fest is organizing the following competitions and present cash prizes to the winners.

- Talk your thesis: This is an initiative to connect the (invisible) MS/PhD students to the society at the large. They will be invited to give a 10 minute public talk on their thesis at the Festival.
- Perform your project: In this competition, people will perform their science project through any means - talk, act, demo, dance, etc. providing a platform to exhibit their great science coupled with innovative method of presentation.

Deadlines for the submission of Final Applications is 13th October. Register soon
