An Invitation to Exhibit

The 2018 IEEE International Ultrasonics Symposium (IUS2018) constitutes one of the leading international technical conferences for research, development and applications of Ultrasound. The conference appeals to an especially wide range of interest groups and an international attendance of 1,200 or more is anticipated.

The IUS2018 also includes an exhibition area that will allow all of the conference participants and exhibitors the opportunity to interact both technically and socially. This has proven to be a very successful business opportunity for participating vendors over the past several years and should be even better in Kobe, Japan.

We expect over 40 vendors displaying products covering a wide range of instruments, materials and technology to be exhibiting in the conference.

The next page is the exhibit prospectus with details for exhibitors. To sign up please go online to: www.yesevents.com/ius/exhibitors and reserve your space as soon as possible because space is limited.

If you encounter problems or have special needs, questions, etc., please contact either of us.

We look forward to seeing you this year and to a very exciting event.
